THE GENTLEMEN'S UNIVERSITY CROSS-COUNTRY RACE

(Where known, team captains are marked thus *)

Scoring system

- 1880 to 1919 – five-a-side with all five scoring
- 1920 to 1936 – six-a-side with first five scoring and sixth-placed runners from each side not scoring
- 1937-38 – six-a-side with all six scoring
- 1940-45 – the Wartime Races - eight-a-side with the first six scoring and seventh- and eighth-placed runners not counting. In the first two races, the teams were actually six-a-side, but the two reserves were allowed to run
- 1945-47 – six-a-side with first five scoring and sixth-placed runners from each side not counting
- 1948-51 – eight-a-side with the first six scoring and seventh- and eighth-placed runners not counting
- 1952-date – eight-a-side with the first six scoring and all runners' places counting.

ⁱⁱⁱ“Damaged himself early in the race.” (Rysden, 1900).

The 3rd University Cross-Country Race

Monday, December 4th 1882, Oxford

9 miles

1.	W.A.Rice	Christ's	Cambridge	58:53 ^{iv}
2.	L.W.Reed	St. John's	Cambridge
3.	G.F.Wooldridge	Keble	Oxford
4.	F.A.Wells	St. John's	Cambridge
5.	H.E.H.Way	Non-collegiate	Oxford
6.	C.W.Grinstead ^v	Charsley's Hall	Oxford
7.	H.Straker ^{vi}	Jesus	Cambridge
8.	J.Prowde ^{vii}	St. John's	Cambridge
9.	A.V.Paton ^{viii}	Trinity	Oxford
10.	E.C.Carter ⁱⁱ	St. John's	Oxford

Cambridge won by 22 points to 33

W.E.Fraser (Pembroke) was Cambridge captain

G.E.H.Pratt (St. John's) was Oxford captain

^{iv} Rice won by 20 yards.

^v In Fifty Years of Sport at Oxford, Cambridge and the Great Public Schools, C.W.Grinstead is listed as being at Keble and Charsley's Hall, Oxford. He was at Keble from 1879-81 and then migrated to Charsley's Hall for 1882-83.

^{vi} The Book of Blues records the seventh placed runner as Cambridge's J. Brodie (no college given).

^{vii} The Book of Blues records the eighth placed runner as Cambridge's W.H.Steven (no college given).

^{viii} There is some doubt as to whether this runner was A.V.Paton (Trinity) or J.D.Paton (St. Edmund Hall). Fifty Years of Sport at Oxford, Cambridge and the Great Public Schools, the Book of Blues and Oxford versus Cambridge record him as J.D.Paton. Both A.V. and J.D. were up at Oxford from 1881 until the 1890s. However, in A.V.Paton's obituary in The Times, it states that he won a Half-Blue for cross-country. Also, the Oxford Magazine, which was not first published until 1882, records that A.V.Paton attended a number of club runs in the 1882-83 season. J.D.Paton is never mentioned. In the C.U.H. & H. Minute Book, the runner is recorded in the result of the 1882 race as simply 'Paton'. The initials J.D. have been pencilled later. This could be where the confusion has arisen. It is also possible that Fifty Years of Sport at Oxford, Cambridge and the Great Public Schools is the cause as it contains a short biography of Rev. J.D.Paton of St. Edmund Hall who ran in the cross-country race of 1882. Therefore, it is assumed that the runner was in fact A.V.Paton.

The 4th University Cross-Country Race

8.	A.H.Bassano*	Balliol	Oxford
9.	F.A.Dale	Corpus Christi	Cambridge
10.	W.J.Turrell	Turrell's Hall ^{xiv}	Oxford

Cambridge won by 23 points to 32

^{ix} Reed won by 40 yards.

^x "Sprained his ankle." (Rysden, 1900). He walked in.

^{xi} The Book of Blues, gives the following, incorrect ordering of the race: Reed, Whateley, Collinson, Conway, Edgell, Prowde, Bassano, James, Bradley and Nevill.

^{xii} Reed won by a yard; similar distance between second and third.

^{xiii} In Oxford versus Cambridge and The Book of Blues, Whateley is recorded as being at Cavendish College, which existed from 1876-1891. Its buildings are now occupied by Homerton College.

^{xiv} Turrell's Hall was a private hall at Oxford. It no longer exists.

1914 - 1918: No races due to the Great War

^{xix} In Oxford versus Cambridge and Book of Blues, J.E.W.Bath is referred to as J.A.Bath. This appears to be a mistake. There is no record of a J.A.Bath at the University at this time. John Euel Witherden Bath (Shrewsbury) was a Bible Clerk and Member of the Foundation at All Souls who matriculated in Michaelmas term 1912. The Annals of the Thames Hare and Hounds also refers to a J.E.W.Bath and not J.A.Bath.

	P.A.Howe (r)	Emmanuel	Cambridge	DNF

Cambridge won by 36 points to 42

The race was run on a six-to-score basis, but the both sides' reserves competed, making 16 starters in all. Only 11 runners finished the race, so twelfth was credited to Oxford by default. R.S.Bleas and J.A.Glen-Bott were reserves for their respective teams, but in the event, both scored for them.

E.P.Dewar (St. Peter's Hall) was Oxford captain

^{xxii} The wartime races were not considered part of the official series, so the results have never been included in the overall match score.

11.	S.J.Needham ^{ix}	Christ's	Cambridge	20:37
12.	J.M.Kanssen	New Hall	Cambridge	21:23

Cambridge won. No score declared.

The race score was Cambridge 11 points, Oxford 25. However, objections were lodged by Oxford on the grounds that over-zealous Cambridge supporters had paced Cambridge competitors and impeded Oxford runners. The Referee (A.J.Elliot, President of Thames Hare and Hounds) considered the objections and eye-witness reports and judged that the interference by supporters may have affected some individual placings, but could not have affected the overall team result. He therefore ruled that the match should stand as a victory for Cambridge, but no points should be declared.

Declaration of the Race Result

The following report formally sets out the outcome of the 39th Ladies' University Race, hosted by Thames Hare and Hounds on Wimbledon Common on Saturday 6th December 2014.

Sophia Saller (St. Catherine's, Oxford) had led the race from an early stage and was on course to take the individual victory. When the group of runners behind her, which included Kate Niehaus (Trinity, Oxford) and all seven members of the Cambridge team, reached the 2.9 mile point in the race (the crossing of the ditch following the descent down from the Alps), they followed the gentlemen's course, which crosses the ladies' course at this point. On reaching Stag Ride, the group turned left and followed it until the Memorial Playing Fields were reached and the correct course picked up to the finish. This detour represents a small shortcut, but critically much easier terrain as the hardest part of the course (The Butts) is missed out. As a consequence six of the eight runners reached the finish ahead of Sophia Saller.

Simon Molden (Thames Hare and Hounds) witnessed the race with all runners on course just before the Windmill at 2.3 miles. His view was that:

1. By this point Sophia Saller was clearly leading and would have won the race had it reached its natural conclusion
2. Kate Niehaus was second at this point with the whole Cambridge team packed closely behind her. The Oxford team was adrift of the Cambridge runners and spread out over a much wider margin. Therefore, had the race reached its natural conclusion, Cambridge would have decisively won the team contest.

Following this, runners all passed Richard Weston (Thames Hare and Hounds) who was stationed in the woods just after the Windmill. The course was lost about 400 yards after this point.

Following a discussion between John Bryant (President, Thames Hare and Hounds and Match Referee), Simon Molden (Honorary Secretary, Thames Hare and Hounds and Clerk of the Course), Dorothea Cockerell (Club Captain, Thames Hare and Hounds), Larry Mathews (Thames Hare and Hounds), Katy Hedgethorpe (Ladies' Captain, Cambridge University Hare and Hounds) and Suzana Markolovic (Ladies' Captain, Oxford University Cross-Country Club), the following was agreed:

1. That Thames Hare and Hounds takes full responsibility for the runners having lost the course
2. That Sophia Saller should be awarded the individual victory in the race
3. That Cambridge should be awarded the team victory with no score declared.

Thames Hare and Hounds would like to pass their sincere apologies on to Oxford and Cambridge for unclear course marking and the lack of a pioneer at a critical point and their gratitude to the two captains for their co-operation and helpfulness in reaching the verdict set out above.

John Bryant, President, Thames Hare and Hounds
Simon Molden, Honorary Secretary, Thames Hare and Hounds
Dorothea Cockerell, Captain, Thames Hare and Hounds
Larry Mathews, Thames Hare and Hounds
Matthew Bryant, Thames Hare and Hounds
